WE DEDICATE

It is with great pleasure and sincere pride that we, the Class of 1953, dedicate this GUIDE to one who is highly respected and admired by the students of our school for her outstanding leadership in extra-curricular activities as well as in the class room; to one who has spent many extra hours helping to make our stay in Ashland High School one of the most memorable experiences of our lives.

Her unselfish efforts have been a constant inspiration to those who have worked with her.

She has a tremendous amount of school spirit and has always been a strong supporter of school traditions.

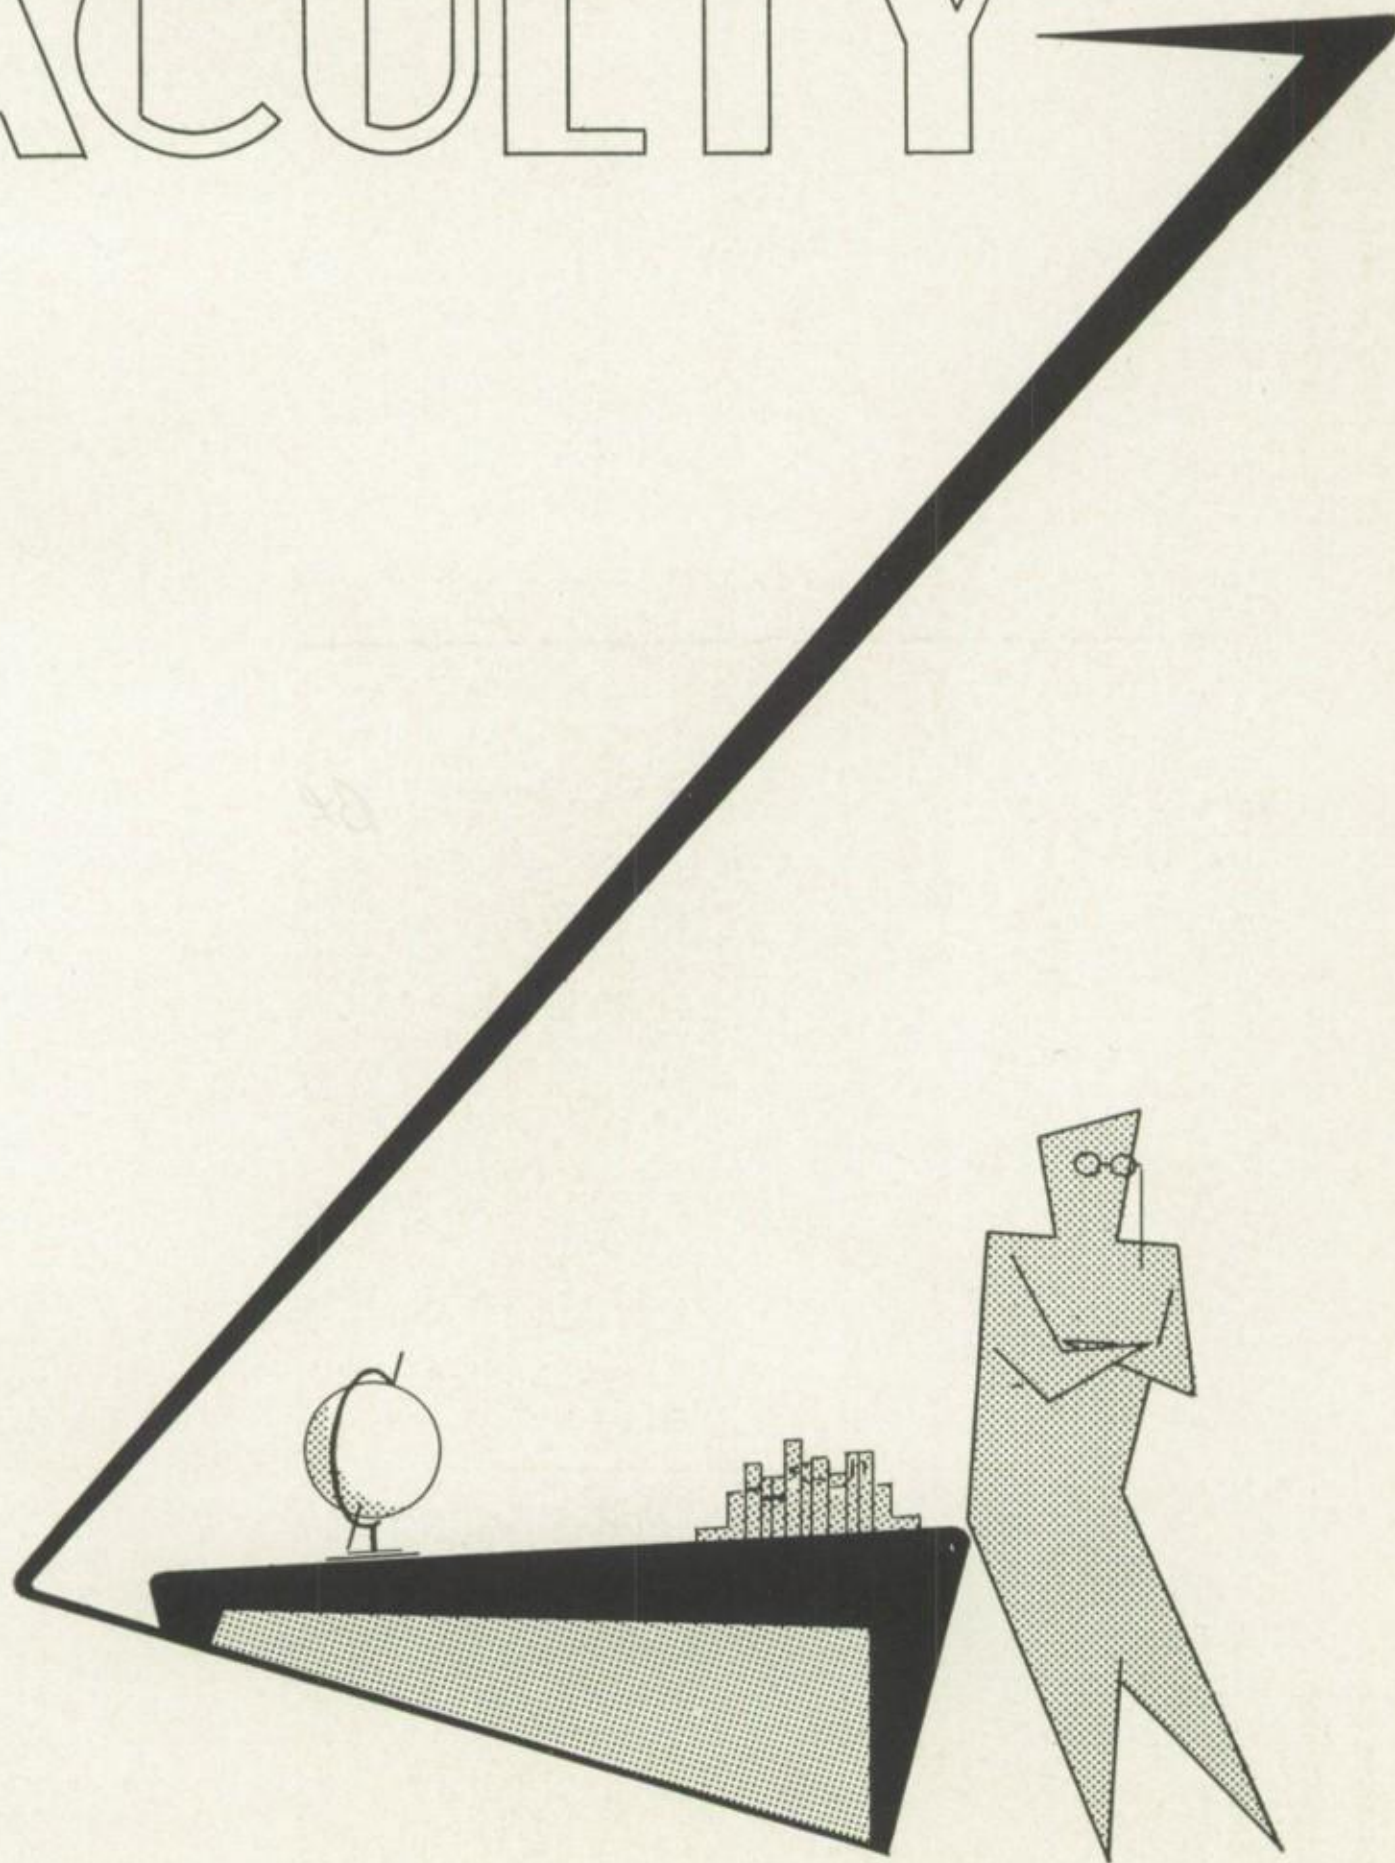

We therefore dedicate this 1953 GUIDE to

with the hope that her future may be filled with all the happiness and success she has so well earned by her countless efforts in behalf of our school.

SENIORS

The triangle of success—knowledge, courage, and foresight—is the motto of the Class of 1953.

The nucleus of the class is the council, which has done its job well. The council members took orders for senior name cards, a job involving accuracy and much book-keeping. It was also the job of the council to take cap and gown measurements and orders for graduation announcements. The members were given the responsibility of getting the seniors' names as they wished them to be on the graduation diplomas.

Each item brought before the members of the class was first thoroughly discussed by the members of the council. This included discussion on the GUIDE dedicatee, speaker for baccalaureate, selection of the class play, and the design of the class flag.

This year new asphalt tiling and curtains were placed in the council room by the senior class. The laying of the tile and making of the curtains was done by council members during Christmas vacation.

The class party was held February 12th at Miller Memorial Building. The game room, containing ping pong and pool tables, television, and facilities for card playing was open to members of the Senior Class. Larry Hiner's Band furnished the music for dancing.

The class presentation of TEN LITTLE INDIANS was given in McDowell Auditorium on March 20. The play was excellently produced and well received by the audience.

May 24th the class picnic was held at Chippewa Lake Park. Supper was served at 5:00. Concessions and rides were open, and there was a dance in the evening. The activities committee, headed by a member of the council, was in charge of all social functions of the Senior Class. Mr. F. E. Gnagey and Mr. Dwain Murray were class advisers. Their work with the council and class was greatly appreciated.

Richard Lee Emmons

Prophecy - Class of 1953

SETTING: Ashland: Corner of Main and Center Streets.

TIME: 1978

SCENE: A street cleaner sweeping street while millionaire waits to cross at stop light.

CHARACTERS: A millionaire—Dave Hamilton
A street cleaner—Fred Snow

DAVE: Pardon me, sir, but haven't I seen you somewhere before? Your face looks familiar.

FRED: Not that I know of, mister.

DAVE: I'm sure I have, but I may be mistaken. (Walks on, comes back.) I'm sure now that I have. Didn't you go to Ashland High School?

FRED: Why, yes, I did. I graduated in the Class of '53. Boy, what a rip-snortin' class we had!

DAVE: Fred! Fred Snow—my old buddy. It's Dave. Dave Hamilton, you know, HEAD.

FRED: You sure are looking prosperous.

DAVE: You don't look so bad yourself. At least, I see you are your own boss.

FRED: Yeah, it's pretty nice, all the cigarette butts you can get your hands on, now and then a few coins and your own hours. But say, how did you ever get a fancy suit like that?

DAVE: Well, to make a short story shorter (Opens coat and reveals sign saying "Eat at Peppy's", you see, I've been around the world. I was in the French Foreign Legion, I worked in Bombay as a rickshaw driver, just odd jobs all over. I got here just this week and the employment office offered me this job.

FRED: Man, you have been around, haven't you?

DAVE: Yeah.

FRED: All around?

DAVE: Yeah, all around.

FRED: Remember Meininger? I saw him the other day.

DAVE: Good old Marv. How's he doing?

FRED: Not bad. He said that he and John Spreng and Jim Campbell are wallpaper designers in Greenwich Village. Can you imagine that? (Chuckles.) By the way, Marv told me they were designing wallpaper for Shirley Hess.

DAVE: Who's she and what's so funny about it?

FRED: Oh, she's the proprietor for Madam Figure's Girdle Shop.

DAVE: Well, I can tell you of two members of our class who made good in a really big way—Jim Schuette and Ray McKean. They finally bought the "42 Club."

FRED: Yeah, they should. They've been paying for the place ever since they were freshmen. But, they almost lost it.

DAVE: How's that?

FRED: They bet it on Debby Fridline riding her horse, Roxy, in the Santa Anita Handicap.

DAVE: I think I read about that in the Paradise Hill Quarterly. Say, is Kay Reynolds still the editor of that paper?

FRED: Yeah, she lost her job when the T. G. went bankrupt. Say, speaking of old classmates, you'll never guess whom I saw the other night at Rainbow Arena.

DAVE: It wouldn't be Jim Weiss and Joe Mason in one of their Shakespearean productions?

FRED: No, not they, although I hear they have been quite popular lately. No, it's more in the line of sports. I saw Bomba Cowan win the Ladies' Wrestling Championship of the world.

DAVE: Well, she certainly made a name for herself. What's her sister doing now?

FRED: You mean Virginia? She's her manager. She always did like to handle money.

DAVE: It seems quite a few of our classmates made good in the theater. Rose Smith is starring in musical comedy now. Last time I heard, she had the lead in Gentlemen Prefer Blondes.

FRED: Well, what do you know about that? And guess who I saw on T. V. yesterday?

DAVE: Who?

FRED: Cupid Edwards. She is taking Hedda Hopper's place in Hollywood.

DAVE: I always knew that gift of gab would take her some place. Well, that makes two of our classmates who are on television now. Dave Emery has a part on the Perry Como show. Some job!

FRED: What is he, an announcer?

DAVE: Well, I suppose you could call him that. He doesn't have much to say, for he's the guy who stands there and puffs on a cigarette and says they're much milder.

FRED: Say, if you get time, go up to Samaritan Avenue and watch Larry Jones. He is putting up a chicken coop.

DAVE: Not to live in, I hope.

FRED: No, Joyce wouldn't like that. Larry's working for the Loudonville Prefab Chicken Coop Corporation.

DAVE: Remember all the guys that were joining the Reserves? Well, they've made quite a career out of it. Jim Welsh, I know, is Vice Admiral of the Japanese Navy and Warren Stitzel, Dave Houser and Phil Ohl are making week-end trips to the moon. Seems as if there are some rather strange women up there.

FRED: That reminds me, I saw Jim Roland on leave the other week. Wow! He's a corporal in the Marines. He's got a real job—taking care of the coal pile at Port Columbus. And have you heard about the new rage in Paris? Homer Brown, Spikes Sponsler, and George Thompson have opened up an English Grammar School. All the cafe society people are flocking to it to learn English as she is spoke.

DAVE: Quite a few of our friends got into politics. Stan Uncapher was just appointed Secretary of Agriculture by the new President. Say, what did you think of a woman winning the election?

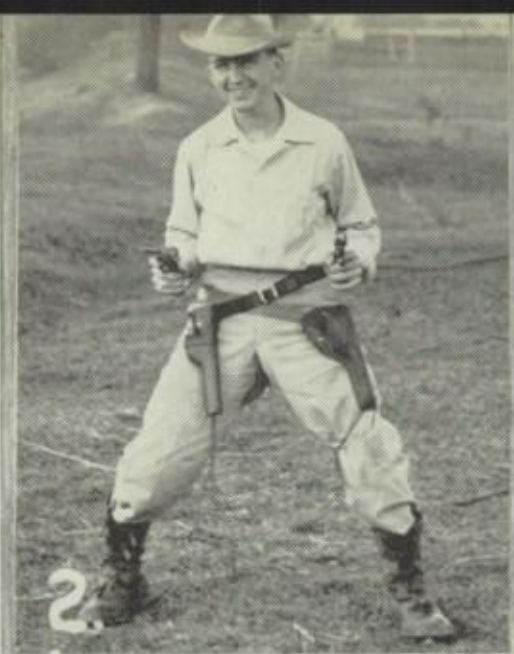

FRED: Well, Sonya Chambers was a good Student Senate President. She ought to do as well as Truman, Eisenhower, and Jim Roseboro did.

DAVE: Yes, I think as a whole our classmates have really made progress. But I should be getting back to Peppy's. I don't want to be late on my first day of work. Besides, I've got to stop in at Curt Thompson's Lonely Hearts Club and see if I've gotten any mail.

FRED: Well, I'll see you around, Dave. I'm staying at the "Y" now. Come on up some day and we will talk over old times.

DAVE: O. K., Fred, see you around the streets.

The Last Will and Testament of the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-Three

We, the members of the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-three, of Ashland High School, City of Ashland, State of Ohio, being of the age of twelve years and assuming the qualities of more or less sound minds, spirits, and memories, and possessing a few brains, do proclaim and announce this document to be our last will and testament.

As we go forth from these hallowed halls, we depart in body but not in spirit. We hope that the memory of our class, be it glad or sad, may always remain as a fragment of our alma mater so long as a fragment of it doth stand.

With this in mind we do courageously, knowingly, and with conscious foresight make the following bequest:

ARTICLE I. To the faculty members:

Item 1. We leave to the coaches, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Wolfe, the undefeated football record, but take the star players with us as future talent for the Rose Bowl games.

Item 2. We leave Mrs. Reaser and Miss Bachtel a large economy size of Air Wick to eliminate the burning odors made by the next Senior Home Economics boys.

Item 3. We leave Mr. Dallas an automatic ticket selling machine which broadcasts new jokes with each ticket sold.

Item 4. We leave Doc Pete some doubtful but hopeful replacements for senior losses in his music organizations.

Item 5. We leave Miss Foust three problems classes but each an easier problem than we turned out to be.

Item 6. We leave Miss Campbell a fresh crop of reference papers and a filing cabinet large enough to keep her papers straight.

ARTICLE II. To individual students:

Item 1. For breaking the senior council room mirror, we bequeath Dave Emery's seven years of bad luck to the city dump, so that he will not be tormented throughout his next four years of college and first three years of married life.

Item 2. We leave Larry Hiner's dance band to a little eager beaver by the name of Bud Kopp, hoping that he can rise to Larry's height.

Item 3. We bequeath Jim Roseboro's football talent to Dave Grindle in hopes that he may present Ashland High School with another All-Ohio honor.

Item 4. We bequeath a royal spray of red roses to any junior girl who can fill the rank of Homecoming Queen as gracefully and as nobly as her Highness Margery Donelson.

Item 5. We bequeath Dick Kreis's two front teeth as museum pieces for future study in the biology department.

Item 6. We bequeath Joel Rader's baton throwing ability to anyone who is brave enough to attempt his death defying throw.

ARTICLE III. To the organizations of A. H. S.:

Item 1. We bequeath Miss Stanley to the 1954 Guide Staff, as adviser, this being a bequest of highest value and real worth.

Item 2. To next year's All-Star girls' basketball teams, we leave our left-over dried up lemons, twenty-five laps a day around the boys' gym, and a hope and prayer to the Army team for a winning streak.

Item 3. To next year's Senior Hi-Y and Koda Klub, we leave Tom Corbett's Space Cadets from Planet X in hopes that they may sponsor another successful formal dance.

Item 4. To the Student Senate we leave the drudgery of cleaning up after dances and selling popcorn at home football and basketball games.

Item 5. To next year's Senior Council we leave our newly decorated, newly furnished, and newly equipped room, knowing that it will be used for purely cultural pursuits!!!

ARTICLE IV. To the underclasses:

Item 1. To the eager Freshmen class we leave the motto "Have no worries, you'll survive."

Item 2. To the hopeful Sophomore class we leave two more years of joys and sorrows until you, too, may process to "Pomp and Circumstance."

Item 3. To the expectant Junior class we leave all our past privileges: cheering at games, belonging to clubs, attending school dances, and our well worn text books, hoping that these memories will remain with you as they will with us.

Item 4. To all the repressed underclassmen we leave a torch in hopes that it may light your way into the membership of the National Honor Society.

ARTICLE V. Last, and most important, we remove our flag from its honored position and place it with the flags of past classes, and the place thus vacated, we bequeath to the colors of the Class of 1954. Thus is a new senior class born while we, the Class of 1953, join the ever growing ranks of Ashland High School alumni. Now as we pass through these halls for the last time as fellow students, we remember the final wonderful years of our joys and sorrows. It is with sad but hopeful hearts that we march into the future with Courage, Knowledge and Foresight—the triangle of success.

DR. ARMSTRONG .....	Lanny Applegath

A thrilling mystery, Ten Little Indians, was presented on March 20 as the Senior Class Play.

The setting was a country house off the coast of England. The ten little Indians were represented by ten small statues on the mantle. Above them was a nursery rhyme explaining the way each Indian was killed. As the play progressed it was realized that ten of the guests in the house were represented by the ten statues.

Each of these people had at sometime during his life been responsible for the death of a friend or a relative. This was told by an unknown voice off-stage which added to the suspense of the play.

All of the guests had been invited to the house by an unknown host and were complete strangers to each other. Eventually each of them was murdered by the means explained in the poem. The villain was not discovered until the last thrilling minutes of the play.

The cast of eight men and three women did an excellent job in portraying the characters. The director, Mr. William Mast, worked many hours after school and in the evenings with these people, helping them to perfect their falls and dramatize their lines.

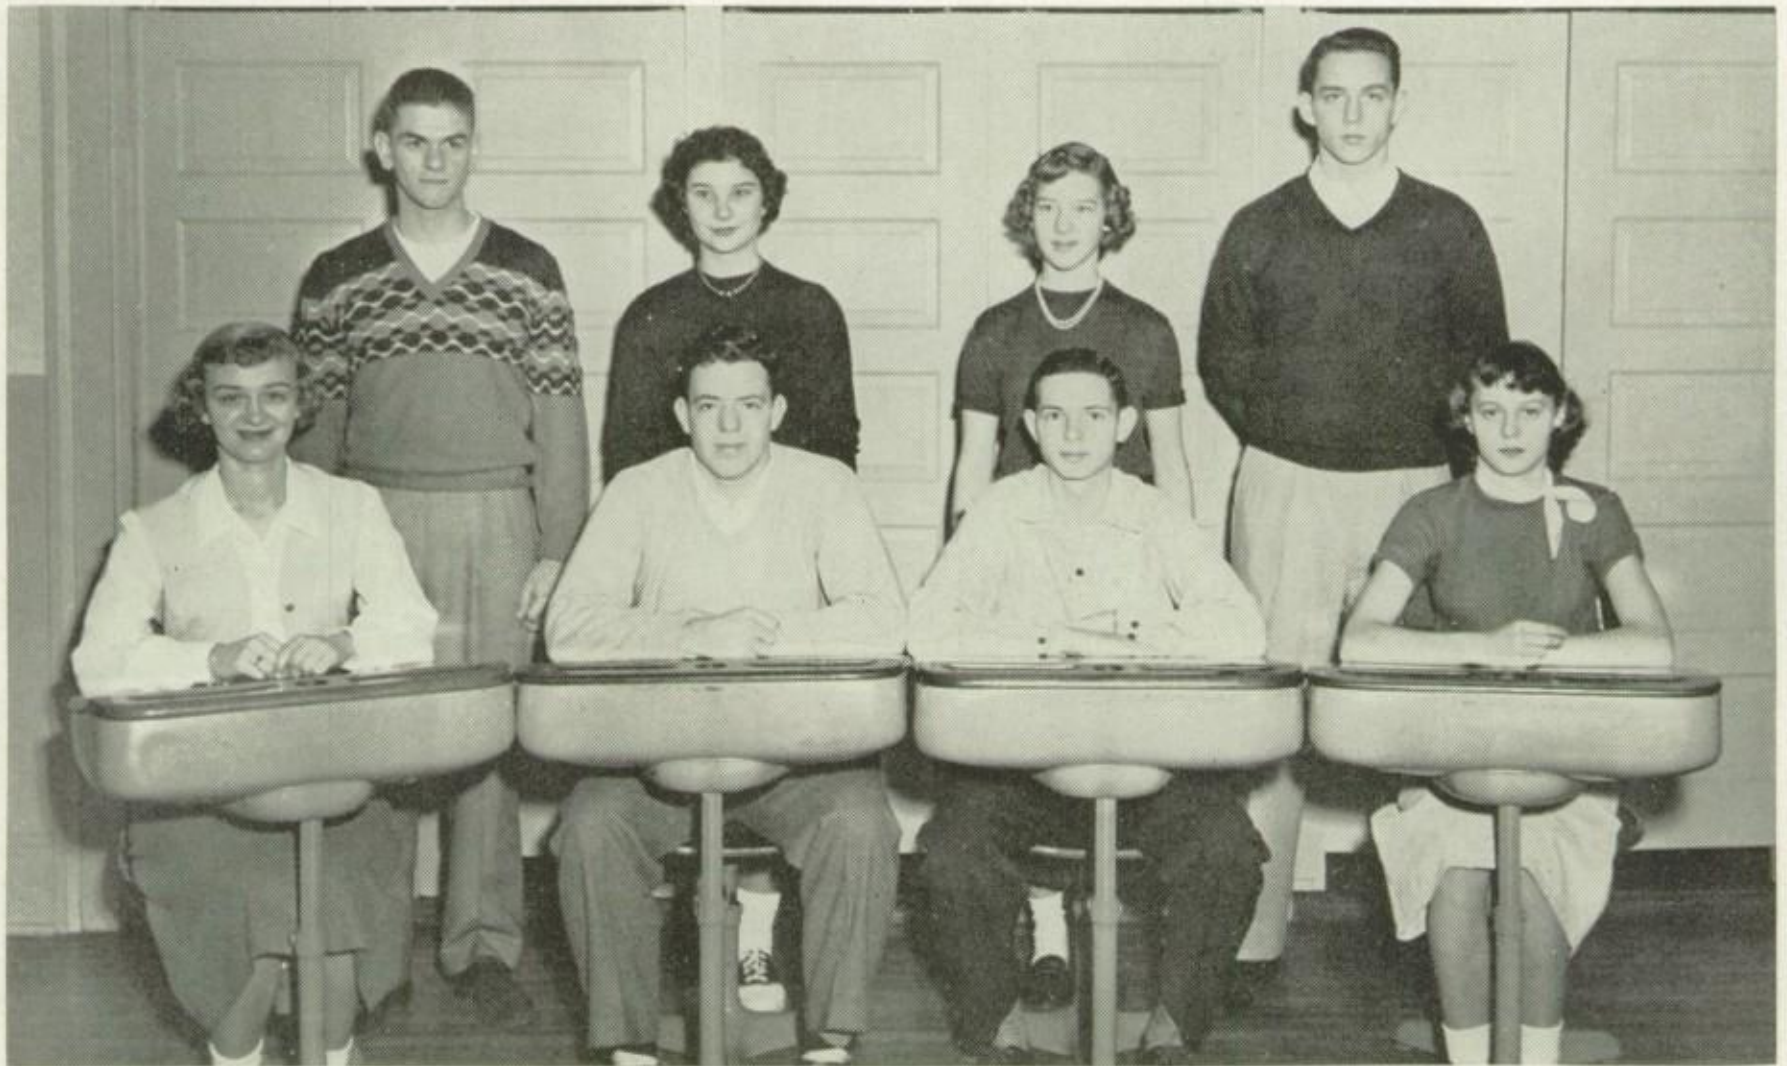

The play, written by Agatha Christie, had recently been made into a movie under the name AND THEN THERE WERE NONE.

1. "She's fainted, that's all!"
2. "One choked his little self,
And then there were nine."
3. "One got in chancery . . ."
4. "Oh, what have I done?"
5. "Thank heaven women can't shoot straight!"

Running into the same difficulties as Miss Brooks of television was Marguerite Mosher as she portrayed the famous dramatics teacher in the Junior Class play, Our Miss Brooks.

Humorous, enthusiastic Miss Brooks was confronted with problems galore while trying to select a cast and present a play in her high school.

The athletics coach, played by Larry Weidenhamer, made matters worse when he refused Miss Brooks the right to use the gymnasium for rehearsals.

Overcoming all these obstacles, Miss Brooks presented a very successful play and used her charms to win the affections of the coach.

McDowell Auditorium was filled to capacity for the production.

Distributive Education

The Distributive Education class of seniors combines a double period of Salesmanship and Retailing with regular, part time work in stores. Students are members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America and of the D. E. Clubs of Ohio. Monthly meetings are held in the evenings and a regional all-day meet is held on the campus of Kent State University. In March the entire class goes to Cleveland for a business trip through the Federal Reserve Bank. Two delegates attend the state meeting annually in Columbus. A banquet for the employers in May highlights the year's work.

The program in Diversified Cooperative Training is designed to provide vocational training on a part time basis for high school students during their senior year. The establishments of employers are used for training students in actual occupational activities, for one-half of the day. The other half day is spent partially in the high school related to classroom work and partly in the study of other required high school subjects.

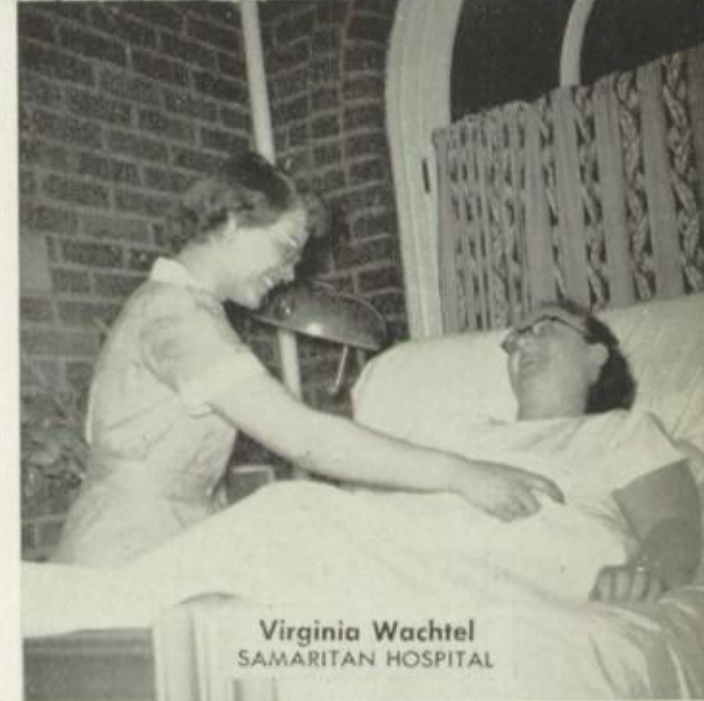

During the related classroom time, the instruction pertaining directly to the occupation is dealt with. While several occupations may be included, the student receives training in only one, through the use of a notebook dealing with his occupation.

In classes the students discuss anything of value to a young worker starting on a new job. They learn about safety practices, getting along with people, how to apply for a job, parliamentary procedure, social security, income tax, and personal understanding of likes and dislikes.

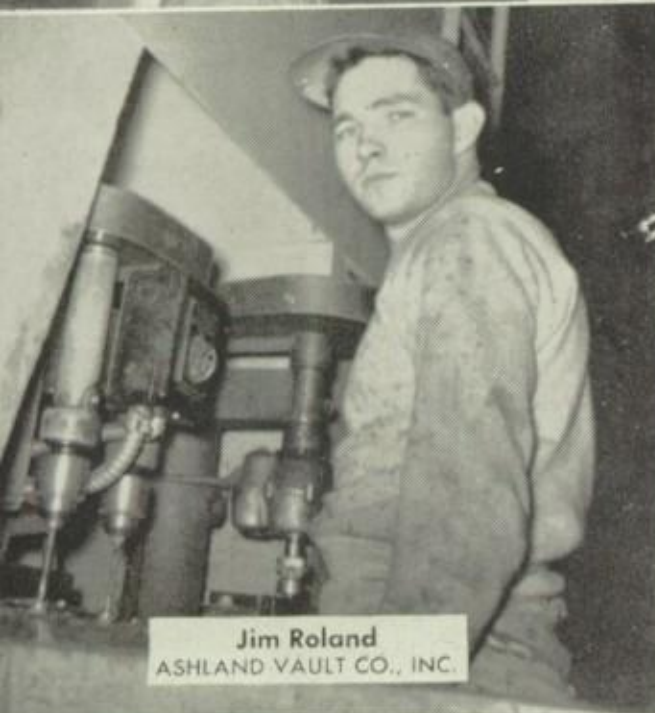

Eight members of the organization went to the all-day conference of the Vocational Industrial Club of Ohio, which was held in the Student Union Building of Ohio State University in April.

The Employers' Banquet was held at the Eagle's Hall on April 30, for all the students and their employers.

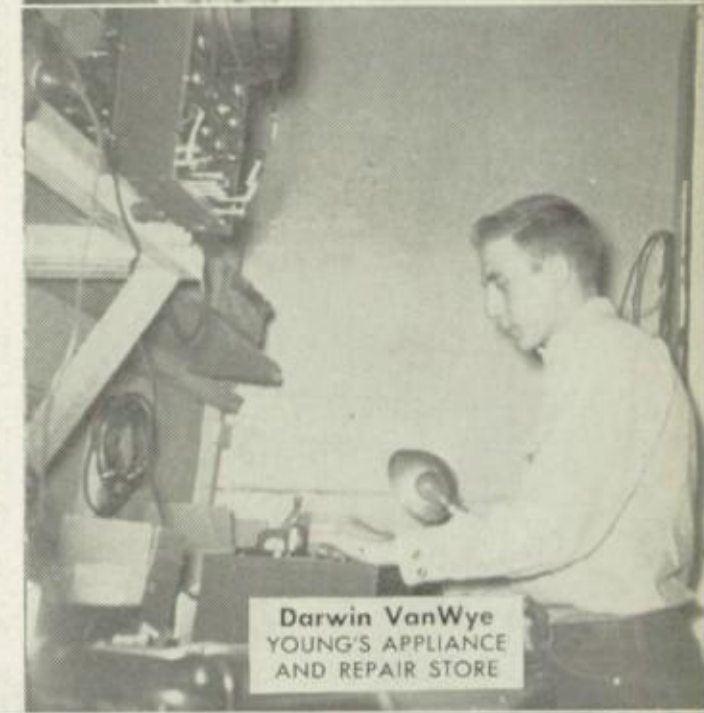

Mr. Sherck, their adviser for the past three years, does all he can to guide these young people and to answer any questions which they might have.

Senior

Well known for sponsoring worthwhile activities of the school is the Senior Hi-Y. This organization is always willing to contribute its services for the well being of its fellow students.

As the school year begins the problem of Halloween vandalism arises in the community. To help eliminate some of the damage to private property, the boys carried on a campaign to decrease this destruction. They contacted their little brothers and saw to it that they kept their Halloween activities to two nights—beggars' night and Halloween.

At Thanksgiving time they presented a skit which made up the Thanksgiving Assembly. It was the story of a Korean veteran who came home as a wounded soldier and found courage, the desire to live on and provide for his family, even though he was handicapped.

The formal initiation each year is very impressive. The Rotary Club was host this year to several members of the Hi-Y at a luncheon where the boys conducted this solemn ceremony. Along with the formal initiation, however, goes the informal one which always provides an evening of fun and laughter for the boys.

In a joint meeting of the Junior and Senior Hi-Y, Mr. Ted Fauber spoke on firearms, showing the group various types of guns and ammunition. A Marine from Korea, Dave Walters, also spoke to the boys. He told them about the conditions in Korea and some of his experiences.

In another meeting the club was addressed by the superintendent of the Mansfield Reformatory. He told about the functions of the prison and its various activities.

To entertain their little brothers, the members of this club held a pot-luck supper at Christmas time and exchanged gifts with them. Later in the year they attended a movie in the auditorium with the Junior Hi-Y and Koda Klub.

One of the last activities of the year was the collection of clothing for the Children's Crusade in Europe. The boys did their part to collect the clothes and send them to New York City to be shipped to Korea.

The Junior Hi-Y is made up of ninth and tenth grade boys who are thought to be worthy of membership by the old members of the club.

The boys carried on many interesting meetings during the year. Discussion groups were held on several occasions. Jim Ganyard, Jim Mosser, and Roger Bechtel led the group in a panel discussion on "Should you earn your own spending money?", "What should you do about a teacher you dislike?", and "Should everyone go to college?"

Mr. Tallman spoke to the boys on the Boys' Industrial School in Lancaster, Ohio. He was a former teacher of the school and was able to cite many interesting incidents that he experienced while there.

At another meeting the club joined the Senior Hi-Y and Koda Klub to hear the superintendent of the Mansfield Reformatory speak.

Mr. Hire showed moving pictures of Mexico one evening when the group met. He had taken these pictures while traveling through that country.

"Moral Habits" was the topic of the talk given by Mr. Veal, Secretary of the YMCA. He stressed the disadvantages of drinking and smoking and also told the boys what happens when they follow the ways of the crowd instead of doing their own thinking and deciding what is right and wrong.

The Junior Hi-Y did its part in the Hi-Y-Koda Klub Formal by helping to plan and decorate the gym. The boys also helped their "big brother" club, the Senior Hi-Y, in their clothing drive by collecting the clothes from Ashland homes.

"A picture unrolled before a spectator, an unobstructed view"—this is the definition of the word panorama and the purpose of the Ashland High bi-monthly newspaper of the same name.

Having just completed its sixteenth year of continuous publication, The Panorama has risen from a circulation of 400 with the first issue in January, 1938, to this year's high of 1021—the Christmas edition.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Plank, fifteen issues were published by this year's staff with assistance of the first year students on the special six-page Christmas and Graduation numbers. Their aim was to write stories which not only satisfied the tastes of their readers, but which met the standards of good journalism as well.

Janice Henderson Harpster, co-editor, is the second member of her family to be associated with an Ashland High publication. Her father held a similar position when he attended school here.

Serving as co-editor of page one was John Hartney, assisted by Larry Hiner and Sonya Chambers who were elevated from first year journalism at the beginning of the second semester.

Page two or the feature page was edited by Sandra Withers assisted by Roberta Strine and Chuck Spies, who also advanced at mid-year.

Co-sports editors Bill Cooper and Bill Farris along with Stan Rader wrote copy for page four.

The business and circulation departments were under the direction of Connie Bryte, Phil Wolcott, Dwayne Trottman, and Gene Sidle.

Sue Gorsuch and Linda Sue Horn served as typists with Joel Morrison as photographer.

Highlight of the year was their part in naming the "Arrows." The Panorama introduced the contest and backed it to its conclusion.

News of plays, sports, contests, projects, clubs—in short, all phases of school life were covered during the school year in an effort to live up to the Panorama's policy of a progressive, impartial, accurate, informative account of A. H. S. in 1952-53.

If you are looking for an organization whose work is devoted to the community and devoted to God, the Senior Girl Reserve is your best choice.

Its members encourage friendship in the student body by acting as "big sisters" to all of the seventh grade girls. They helped these newcomers to get acquainted by holding a picnic at the beginning of the year. Later on, a Valentine's Party was given for them. The seniors answered any questions that the girls had and exchanged gifts with them at Christmas time.

The program of club meetings for the year contained many interesting speakers. One of the first of the year was "Problem Night" when Mrs. Dwain Murray answered the questions of the girls concerning dating, parents, and marriage.

On another evening the Reverend William Chalmers of the First Presbyterian Church gave the club an idea of the contents of the new edition of the Bible. On "Work Service Night" the club members made favors for trays at the Samaritan Hospital.

In March Mrs. Shaeffer from the Mansfield Beauty School gave the girls tips on hair styles and other beauty secrets, while Mrs. Kathleen Donges gave a reading on Johnny Appleseed at one of the last sessions of the year.

At Christmas time, the meeting was a party for a group of needy children of Ashland. These boys and girls received presents and enjoyed an evening full of the Yuletide spirit.

For the last event of the year, the seniors were guests of the junior girls at the Senior Farewell.

"To face life squarely" and "to find and give the best" are the code and the purpose of the Junior Girl Reserves.

This organization is made up of junior girls who want to give their services to the school and community.

The girls took the Ashland County Home as their project of the year. Each girl was given the name of someone living at the home. It was her duty to send cards and gifts to that person for his birthday, Christmas, for Thanksgiving, for Valentine Day, and for Easter. Also at Christmas time, at the home the girls gave a program which included the reading of poetry and the singing of carols for those in the sick rooms.

The club presented the annual Christmas Assembly. The skit, "The Greater Gift," was given by members of the club and portrayed the birth of Christ.

Another service was rendered when they sent money for CARE packages to New York on two different occasions.

In December Mrs. McCuen, speaking to the group on "Good Grooming" told the girls the fundamentals of neatness, proper dress and make-up.

On another evening several juniors formed a panel on different faiths. They also presented a skit to the club called "Courtesy Capers."

Mr. Gorsuch spoke on "Citizenship in the School" in February and gave the club an idea of how citizenship can be established or discouraged in the schools.

A panel of Mrs. Dwain Murray, Mrs. John Tilton, Mr. W. J. Springer, and Mr. Don Cooper gave a discussion on the "Responsibilities of Home Life" for the group.

As the last meeting before the Senior Farewell, Mrs. Mosher gave a book review.

The formal initiation into the organization proved very impressive as the Senior Girl Reserves' carrying candles, formed an "A" in the boys' gym. The junior girls passed through this making a double "A." As they did this, they sang "Follow the Gleam," which is the club song. Besides this, each junior repeated the purpose and code before the senior cabinet.

The Ashland chapter of the Future Farmers of America has earned many awards in parliamentary procedure and judging contests over the years. Under the capable leadership of their enthusiastic advisers, Mr. George Krill and Mr. Rodger Hiller, the club won the Gold Metal for parliamentary procedure, an honor coveted by all high school agricultural groups. In addition, our future farmers won second place in extemporaneous speaking and third place in public speaking in this district.

For the fifth consecutive year, the chapter won the Gold Chapter Contest Rating. This is the highest group rating awarded to a chapter by the Future Farmers of Ohio. It received second place honors in the state in sheep judging, fourth place in meat judging, and sixth position in poultry judging.

The group holds semi-monthly meetings at which the members discuss their farming problems. They apply their knowledge gained in the classroom and field and exchange ideas so that their cooperative effort will provide the best possible solutions to their difficulties.

Not all activities of the club are serious. Its two outstanding social events of the year are the annual Parent and Son Banquet and the Father and Son potluck supper, which are held in the school cafeteria. Mr. John Hartzler, Principal, talked to the parents about his trip to California and the Tournament of Roses which he photographed in color. Mr. W. J. Springer, Superintendent, gave the welcoming address to the fathers.

All the Future Farmer chapters combine to form the Future Farmers of America, a national organization whose convention this year was held at Kansas City. Five members of the group represented the local chapter and attended the all-week session. Eleven of the boys attended a soil-conservation meeting at Muskingum, a camp owned by the Future Farmers of America.

Several members of the club entered exhibits at the Ohio State Fair last year, while ninety-six per cent of the group exhibited at the Ashland County Fair.

College

The object of the College Club is to offer guidance in the selection of a college to all eleventh and twelfth graders.

The club arranged personal interviews with representatives from various colleges and universities. It also provided information to students concerning scholarships and entrance requirements.

On the second and fourth Mondays of each month were held the organization meetings at which many speakers representing various colleges and universities spoke to the club and answered questions about their particular schools.

Representatives from Ashland College, Wittenberg College, Ohio Northern University, Miami University, Bowling Green State, Case Institute of Technology, Flora Stone Mather, Western Reserve University, Baldwin-Wallace College, Antioch College, and Kent State University spoke to the juniors and seniors at regular meetings.

During school time various personal interviews with individual students were carried on. These representatives came from Otterbein College, Ohio University, Heidelberg College, Mount Union College, DePauw University, Kenyon College, Muskingum College, and Akron University.

For those girls interested in nursing, an opportunity for an interview with representatives from Akron People's Hospital and Samaritan Hospital was given. The latter entertained the girls at a tea on one afternoon where they explained the training offered in the local hospital.

The club is not all business, however, for it has three big social events during the year. The first of these is the annual Christmas party which was held in the cafeteria.

The second was Parent Night. This event is held bi-annually, and this year featured the assistant to the President of Baldwin-Wallace College, Mr. C. N. Bogner. The social and service committees were in charge of the evening's entertainment and refreshments. The cafeteria was decorated with large cardboard and wooden school supplies.

As the last meeting of the year, the senior farewell is held. At this time the next year's cabinet members are installed in their respective offices.

The statistics concerning entrance requirements of the various colleges and universities in Ohio were compiled by the College Club and made available to homeroom teachers for use in forming programs of study for college preparatory students.

The adviser of the club, Miss Franz, does all she can for any senior who wishes entrance to a particular college.

Student Senate

Perhaps the most active organization in the high school is the Student Senate. This council is known for its many projects and services to the school. One person is elected from each homeroom to represent his room in the Senate. This selection is made yearly at the school election. At this time a special assembly sponsored by the Student Senate is organized to introduce the candidates for all class offices to the student body before the final election.

One of the Senate's many worthwhile activities is the responsibility for a Greek orphan boy whom the Student Senate has adopted. The Senate with the help of other clubs in the school has been able to provide money and clothing for this child for over a year.

Acting as the sponsor of most of the school dances, the Student Council staged many square dances featuring Wayne Strine's Orchestra. The biggest one of this kind was the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance. The decorations carried out the usual theme with Little Abner and Daisy Mae. Prizes were awarded to the most cleverly dressed couple and to the person wearing the most attractive vegetable corsage.

Dick Dee from WATG was master of ceremonies at the "Night Hawk Dance." The music was in the form of records which were broadcasted over the radio on a program of the same name. This dance was also presented by the Senate. At the Christmas Dance, to which Ashland High School alumni were invited, Larry Hiner's Band furnished the music. Old Saint Nick distributed the prizes.

The Talent Assembly which is planned by this organization was complete this year with a band and chorus line to accompany the various acts. For the first time the assembly was presented in the form of a variety show at a night performance to which the public was invited.

The Senate was the host at one of the biggest parties of the year when it entertained the Cadets of Culver Military Academy after its basketball game with Ashland. This was given at Miller Memorial with each cadet escorting an Ashland girl as his date for the evening.

The Student Handbook was also a project of the council. It is published every two years and includes all items concerning the school and its activities. Students in the journalism department worked most of the summer on the book so it would be completed for this year.

The excellent results of the Senate's vandalism program are apparent in the fact that most of the damage to public and private property at Halloween has been eliminated.

At the end of the year a picnic was held for all of the new and old members of the Senate.

Koda Klub

Row 1—(left to right) Mr. Bilan, Adviser; W. Wolfe, G. Shanks, Sec.; J. Owens, Treas.; B. Budd, Pres.; B. Rickel, Chap.; R. Keller, V. Pres.; R. Baker, G. Sidle, Sgt.-at-Arms. Row 2—B. Kinstle, R. McVey, D. Muster, C. Teall, D. Van Wye, H. Van Over, J. Weiss, S. Uncapher. Row 3—A. Zimmerman, K. Bates, G. Thompson, D. Dillon, T. Anderson, B. Harris. Row 4—J. Sutton, T. Pickering, J. Hutchison, C. Nicodemus, R. Stone.

The Koda Klub was first organized in 1935 by Mr. E. D. Wolfe, former mathematics teacher at Ashland High School. At this time, the members made wooden toys for little children and engaged in other such charitable activities. Although the club no longer does this sort of thing, it still renders many services to the school, the community, and the world.

An example of the latter is their clothing drive for the Children's Crusade in Europe. The club sent clothing to New York City to be shipped to Korean and European children. Its goal was to top the nine hundred pounds sent two years previously.

As one of their contributions to the school activities, they helped to sponsor the annual Hi-Y-Koda Klub Formal. The boys helped with the decorations which carried out the theme "Space Adventure," and with the planning of the program for the evening. They also presented an all-school square dance in April which featured Wayne Strine's Orchestra.

The club was also active socially, as it held a party at the Miller Memorial for its members and their dates. Potlucks and other meetings were held during the year at which the boys' little brothers were entertained. On still another occasion the Junior and Senior Hi-Y, the Koda Klub, and all their little brothers held a joint meeting to see a full length movie in the auditorium.

The boys formed a basketball team and played among themselves and with the F. F. A.

They helped with the Halloween vandalism program by contacting their seventh grade "little brothers" and seeing that they kept their mischief to Halloween and Beggars' Night.

Mr. Bilan is the adviser of the boys and has solved many of the problems of the club.

The organization sold refreshments at the Shelby football game at Myers' Field to finance their various activities.

To all sports-minded girls is sent a cordial invitation to join the Senior Girls' Athletic Club. This organization is made up of tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls who enjoy playing in various sports.

Some of these sports include soccer, bowling, volleyball, basketball, recreational sports, and softball.

Soccer, being the first sport of the year, starts in September when the girls travel to Brookside Park on Mondays and Wednesdays after school to play this game.

Bowling starts soon after soccer season is over. The local bowling alley is the scene for these contests on Tuesdays and Thursdays. During the same weeks that bowling is being played, volleyball tournaments are run in the girls' gym. A varsity volleyball team was chosen this year to play other surrounding towns in this sport. The team lost only one game to Mansfield, won two from Loudonville, and one from Nashville.

After Christmas vacation, basketball season begins. With this sport goes the annual All-Star Game. The Army and Navy teams are chosen after try-outs are held. Following this, three weeks are spent in practice for the big game.

Around Easter time the girls sign up with partners to play recreational sports, including badminton, ping pong, and shuffle board. The girls are eliminated by means of a tournament until the final champions in each sport are chosen. After recreational sports, baseball is the popular game until the end of the year.

The goal of every member of Senior G. A. C. is to win her "A" award. This is done by participation in the above mentioned sports and receiving so many points for each activity. A total of six hundred is needed to receive a letter.

This year a new constitution was written for the club and was voted into effect by its members. It raised the standards in certain sports and stated more requirements for an A-girl to meet.

Once a month an evening meeting was held. This often consisted of a party of a potluck. One of the most interesting of these meetings is "Stunt Night." The senior I team won first prize of the evening for its interpretation of "Uncle Jake's House."

Junior Girls'

To provide recreational activities for seventh, eighth, and ninth grade girls, the Junior Girls' Athletic Club was organized.

The year is started with kickball season. The girls play a tournament until a team in each grade is finally found to take first team point. Two hundred and twenty-five of these points are needed for the girls to receive their class numerals.

After Christmas vacation basketball begins. This sport always proves to be the most popular of the year. One reason for this is the annual All-Star game. The freshmen of the club try out for the Junior Army and Navy teams. This year the Army defeated the Navy by a score of 20 to 19. The two teams ended the season with a pot-luck supper in the home economics rooms.

As their last sport of the year a softball tournament is played. All the games are played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings after school at Brookside Park.

Various interesting business meetings were held dur-manship in football and basketball games, while Mr.

Valentine talked to it on sports, sportsmanship, and the Olympics.

At Christmas time Pat Gilliam and Frances Schneider from Ashland College helped in planning and conducting the party for the girls.

As one of the last meetings of the year Mrs. Shader from the Casual Shop conducted a style show for the group. Several girls modeled dresses and sports wear for the spring and summer months.

The Junior G. A. C. is one of the largest clubs in the schools and one in which everyone is active and willing to work.

Miss Sprague is the adviser for the girls.

Future Teachers

Students who are interested in teaching as a career join the Lettie J. Poe Chapter of the Future Teachers of America. In this way they can acquaint themselves with the profession.

Several members are chosen each year to usher at the annual N. E. O. T. A. Convention in Cleveland. They also conduct the parents to their appointed rooms at Night School.

Those interested in elementary teaching may observe at Pleasant Street and Osborn School and some girls are permitted to conduct classes if the teachers are called to conferences.

Speakers during the year included Mr. John Tilton and Miss Ellen Campbell, high school teachers; Miss Alice McCracken, elementary school supervisor; and Miss Bernice Batchelder from Ashland College. One of the last meetings was with the Delta Kappa Gamma of the same college. The two groups heard a speaker from Mansfield who told about Friendly House and showed pictures of the building and its many recreational facilities.

Library Service Club

To act as assistants to the librarian, Miss Mansfield, is the job of the members of the Library Service Club. The thirty students are in charge of the circulation desk and help people find books when certain ones are needed.

Various other activities take up these boys' and girls' time while they are in the library. They see that everything is in place so that it can be found easily, mend old books and magazines, get the new books ready for use, and take passes of students in the library to their assigned study halls.

Their first meeting of the year was a Halloween party. The next business meetings were devoted to collecting dues and organizing. The March session of the club was in the form of a supper. In April the group held a dance; the May meeting, which is the last of the year, will be spent at Brookside Park at a picnic.

Our new librarian completely reorganized the club which will be able to give willing, efficient service to the school for many years to come.

Girl Reserve Ushers

If you are a member of the Senior Girl Reserves and are not in the band, orchestra, or choir, you have the qualifications for a Girl Reserve Usher. These girls are chosen for their honesty, sincerity, and manners.

The thirteen girls who were chosen for service this year could be seen showing people to their seats and handing out programs at all plays, twilight concerts, basketball games, Concert-Lecture Series, and any other activities held in the McDowell Auditorium for which reserve tickets were sold.

They were trained by the ushers of the previous year. At this time they learned how to read tickets and find the seats quickly and correctly.

The head usher, Sue Tilton, who was also the president of the Senior Girl Reserve Club, was in charge of seeing that all of the girls were on duty at the proper place and time. Sue attended Girls' State in the summer of 1952. She brought back many interesting experiences from Capital University to report to various classes and clubs in the school.

This group of girls chose its own uniforms at the beginning of the year. The head usher was designated by her white tailored suit while the others were dressed in navy blue suits. For the basketball games the girls wore white long-sleeved blouses and blue weskits instead of their regular uniforms.

When problems arose, the matters were taken to Mr. McDowell, who was the adviser of the girls. He presented them with roses for the Thespian Play which was their last ushering duty.

As the last events of the year took place, the girls turned their jobs over to the ushers of the following year. Their first experiences in ushering were at the Thespian Play, Farewell Assembly, Baccalaureate, and Commencement exercises.

This activity gave the girls an opportunity to make many new acquaintances with the patrons while they were rendering a great service to the school.

Thespians

To create an active interest in dramatics among the boys and girls in the high school, the National Thespians was established many years ago in A. H. S. This club presents several plays each year.

Strange Boarders was the three act Thespian play, a comedy-mystery presented to the public on May 16. A junior, Judie Kick, played the lead of Cordelia, a boardinghouse owner who finds her home filled with bank robbers.

Those in the cast of the plays are given points toward membership in the club. Twenty-five of these points are necessary to meet the standards of the organization. Another means of receiving points is by being on a committee. The various committees included publicity, make-up, properties, costume, and ticket sales.

The White Phantom, a one act play, was given by several members of the club for the whole organization and its prospective members. It was under the direction of the club president, Dave Hamilton, and entirely the responsibility of the cast. Those who presented the performance were Barbara Ingmand, Ann Fendrick, Guy Flora, Jim Kopp, Lanny Applegath, Linda Horn, and Jackie Edwards.

The group attended the Cleveland Play House and traveled to Wooster College where it saw The Traitors, staged by the college dramatics department. In this way they learned to criticize the plays and recognize the traits of good settings and acting.

The formal initiation is a solemn ceremony performed by candle light at which the purposes of the club are explained to the incoming members. Each new member is given a certificate of membership and a year's subscription to "Dramatics" magazine upon paying his dues.

The club adviser, Mr. Mast, spent many hours after school and in the evenings in training these people for the plays in which they appear. He also directs the business meetings held monthly on Thursday evenings in the "Little Theater," room 216.

To conclude the year's activities, Thespian Troup 29 held a banquet. At this time the awards for the best Thespian, best actress, and best actor of the year were presented.

This year's Guide is being published under the capable direction of Lanny Applegath, editor. Assisting him is Tom Pickering. Anne Dallas, the efficient business manager, was responsible for the finances. Assisting her in soliciting contributions from Ashland businesses were Bill Cooper, Barbara Ingmand, and Ann Fendrick.

The copy for the Guide was written by Sandra Zehner, literary editor. The photographers, Joel Morrison and Lee Mowry with advice from Mr. Murray, took most of the pictures seen in the book.

The feature section was planned by Ann Fendrick who used many original ideas in forming one of the most interesting sections of the year book. The girls' and boys' sports editors, Sharon Kerr and Gordon Conrad, assisted by Bill Cooper, combined their talents in the sports department.

Carol Hartman was in charge of the faculty. The seniors' pictures and listings of activities were organized by Barbara Ingmand and Dick Siler. The tedious, exacting work of planning and pasting the individual pictures of underclassmen was done by Dave Emery.

The pictures of the organizations of the school were arranged by Debby Fridline and Guy Flora.

The cover of the 1953 Guide was an original design by Gary Griner, art editor. He is also responsible for the modernistic divider pages. Marvin Meininger, assistant art editor, executed the design for the sports page.

Miss Stanley, the staff adviser, did a splendid job of directing the publication.

SPORTS

Dick Wolfe

Dick Wolfe proved himself to be a very valuable member of the coaching staff when football season opened. Wolfe had to do plenty of extra work to get the team in shape by the first game, due to the illness of Head Coach C. E. Taylor.

During the winter Mr. Wolfe coached the junior varsity basketball team to a very successful season. He uncovered material that will aid the varsity next year.

This spring he started a new venture in the coaching business. He took over the tutorship of the jayvee baseball team and did a very good job.

Coach Miller again helped coach a winning jayvee football combination. This year's team had a five and two record as compared with last year's undefeated team's record of six wins and one tie.

During the winter months Coach Miller had charge of the freshman basketball team and did a good job in this sport although his team did not win any games. The experience was the main thing.

Harry Miller

Coach Valentine was the other coach who led the jayvee football team this year.

Mr. Valentine also had another good track team. Last year he coached a state champion in Phil Hamilton and is hoping to coach some more this year. The track team has picked up a lot of followers since Mr. Valentine has taken over the coaching.

Jim Roseboro

One of the most outstanding athletes ever to wear the black and orange colors of Ashland High School is popular Jim Roseboro.

Participating in football, basketball, and baseball, Jim has won nine letters—three in football, two in basketball, and four in baseball. Another outstanding achievement of this senior lad was to be elected captain by his teammates in all three sports. Having the ability to lead his teammates and keep them inspired throughout the game was a trait for which he will long be remembered.

Being named to the All-Ohio football team was the greatest thing that could have happened to the athletic career of this always-friendly senior. He was picked for the defensive backfield team.

Baseball coach, Bud Plank, says that Jim is the only baseball player to win four letters since he has been coach at Ashland High School. Being a versatile person, he had been used at most of the nine positions and did a brilliant job at each post.

Yes, it will be a good many years till Ashland High School will be fortunate enough to have as great an individual to perform on its athletic teams as Jim Roseboro.

All-Ohio Football

The Arrows ended their second straight undefeated season and have the distinction of holding Ohio's longest winning streak—21 consecutive wins. The last team to gain a victory over the Arrows was the Wooster Generals in 1951. Facing the 1952-3 season with the possibility of not having Coach C. E. Taylor to lead them to another undefeated season, Arrow backers were hesitant as to their possibilities. However, Taylor recovered from a serious case of trichinosis and was able to start his team in their annual spring practices.

Winning their first game of the season over Willard, the Arrows mowed down Madison, Tiffin, Ravenna, Shelby, Wooster, Marion, Canton Lehman, and Galion in that order, for a perfect season.

Senior Lee Mowry and junior John Harpster nailed down the end positions and contributed to the Arrows attack with their glu-fingered pass receiving tactics and their bone-crushing blocks which enabled the backfield men to carry the pigskin around the ends.

Jim Campbell and Jack Ebert played the offensive tackle positions for the Arrows. When the defensive platoon came in, Campbell moved over the end post, with Dave Sharrock, Dave Emery, and Ebert alternating at the other tackle.

The guard positions were filled very adequately by Don Howey and Dave Sponsler. Many holes were opened by this duo who made it possible for the backfield to carry the ball for yardage.

Two seniors alternated at the center position. Dick Siler played when the offensive team had the ball and gave way to Larry Jones when the ball was in the hands of the opponents.

Dan McBride, a very promising junior, played very good ball at his offensive line post all season for the Arrows. The linebackers, consisting of Captain Jim Roseboro, Larry Jones, and John Spreng deserve plenty of credit for their analysis of the opposition's plays.

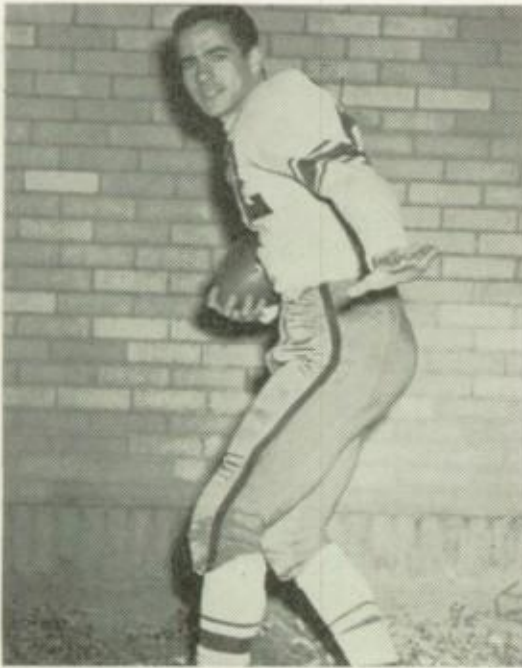

The Arrows backfield consisted of four very fine ball carriers. Junior Dave Grindle did the ball-handling and passing from his quarterback slot. Bill Springer, hampered by injuries in the early part of the season, did an outstanding job of toting the ball. Turning on speed when it was needed was one of Springer's greatest weapons. John Spreng held down the other halfback post and carried the pigskin for considerable yardage.

Being named on Ohio's "dream team" speaks for the work of fullback Jim Roseboro, the guiding light of the Arrow team.

Yes, the 1952-3 undefeated team was a good one and will long be remembered for its spirit, teamwork, and willingness to work.

Ending their season with five wins and just two losses, the jayvee football team served notice that there will be good Arrow teams in the future of Ashland High School football.

This team had plenty of desire to learn and will-to-win. They spent many hard practices learning the fundamentals before their first game with Upper Sandusky was to be played. Starting from scratch, they had to learn many important plays before they could play any games.

Although falling to a tough Upper Sandusky jayvee team, 13 to 0, the Darts made a very commendable showing in their first hand-to-hand battle. The Darts were unable to dent the goal line but they played very aggressive ball, and showed they had plenty of scrap and determination.

Overcoming the jitters that go with first appearances, the Darts defeated a strong Johnny Appleseed aggregation 14 to 6 in their second appearance of the season.

The Darts showed they had the mechanics as well as the eagerness to win in evening their record at one and one.

In their next outing the Darts tromped over Wooster, 20 to 6 for win number two. The defensive maneuvers of the jayvee team were very sharp in holding the opposition to just one touchdown and the offensive thrusts by the Darts were brilliant.

John Simpson Junior High from Mansfield very convincingly defeated the Darts 40 to 7, in their next quest for victory. The rugged Simpson team had plenty of offensive power in addition to a good defensive unit and thus snapped the Darts two game winning streak.

While holding the opponents scoreless, the Darts scored three touchdowns and an extra point to trounce a jayvee squad from Elyria High School, 20 to 0. This decisive win made their record stand at three wins and two losses.

Ending the 1952-53 season with a 16-5 record and the Marion sectional championship, the Ashland Arrows enjoyed another remarkable basketball season under the tutorship of Coach C. E. Taylor. Since coming here from Bryan, Taylor has coached teams which have compiled an amazing 138-30 record.

When opening drills were begun, four lettermen were returning from the previous year to form the nucleus of this year's outfit. Several outstanding prospects moved up from the 1952-53 junior varsity squad to help round out the team.

By the time the first game against Cleveland Lincoln was to be played, Taylor had a starting combination moulded to face the long and tedious season. Jim Roseboro, Gene Sidle, Bill Cooper, returning lettermen, along with junior Ken Sidle and Jim Dilgard, rounded out the smooth working Arrow team. Considerable action was seen from Stan Rader, Bob Messner, Larry Brewer, and Max Messner.

One of the more outstanding features of the Arrows successful season was to defeat their neighboring rival, the Mansfield Tigers twice. It had been several years since Arrow followers have seen this achieved. The scene for the first Arrow victory was Mansfield's chopped-up gymnasium, which was being changed to make room for a larger seating capacity. The Tigers came back to beat Ashland on the Arrows' own floor to even the series at one and one.

Finishing the regular season with 13 wins and only 4 losses, the Arrows entered the Marion sectional determined to bring home the winner's trophy. They didn't want to settle for the runner-up which they had been forced to bring home the previous two years the tourney had been held at Marion.

The first game of the tournament saw Ashland trounce a winless Crestline aggregation with considerable ease. The Arrows met the Mansfield Tygers in their second game and proved they wanted to win by coming from behind to defeat the terrible Tygers. This put the Arrows into the finals with a smooth-running Bucyrus five. Although not playing up to par, the Arrows eked out a victory to win the sectional and pave the way for the Toledo district.

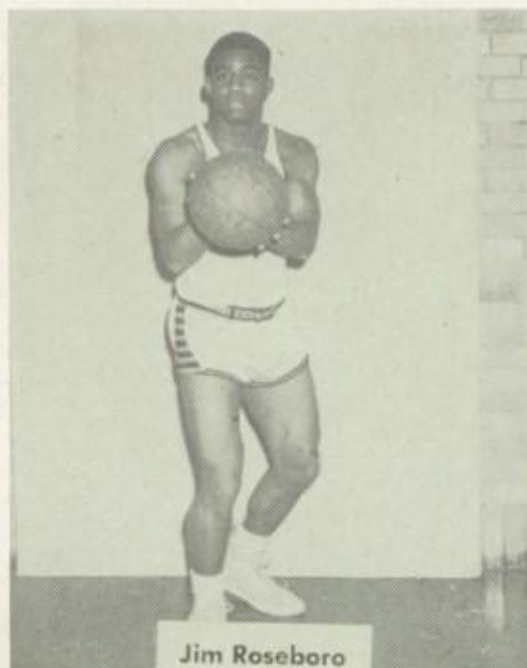

The Arrows drew the Sandusky Blue Streaks for their first Toledo opponent, and went down to defeat, 53-50. Leading at halftime by three points, they came back to face a fired up Sandusky quintet. Unable to get rolling after the second cantos, the Arrows fell behind a sharp-shooting Sandusky five and were never able to get back in the race and thus ended another successful season.

Nine returning lettermen greeted Coach Bud Plank at opening baseball practices. Back for another season were Jim Roseboro, Bob Messner, Stan Rader, Bill Cooper, Phil Fisher, Don Braden, Dan McBride, Dave Grindle, and Jim Campbell. By the time the Arrows' first encounter with Madison rolled around, Plank had his starting combination pretty well set.

Bob Messner and Phil Fisher were the big guns in the twirling department. These two seniors were called on for most of the pitching, although needed support was given them by juniors Bill Farris and Mike McKinley. Regular sacker Dan McBride was used sparingly.

The Arrows were fortunate to have a strong bench this year. Whenever a replacement was needed, Plank could call upon any one of his substitutes and could be assured of a good performance from each.

Sloppy fielding was the main reason for the Arrows' first defeat at the hands of Mansfield Madison, 5 to 4. Limited practices caused the baseballers to be a little lax in some situations, thus giving the Rams four unearned runs. Better things were expected in the remaining games of their schedule.

Junior Varsity Baseball

Teaching ninth and tenth grade boys the fundamentals of baseball was the main objective of Coach Wolfe. Most of the boys who try out for jayvee ball have not had many facts as to how this national pastime should be played. Between the time these boys are old enough to pick up any kind of ball and their age at the present time, they spend most of their time playing softball. In the Ashland recreational program during the summer, baseball has not been emphasized for several years, and thus the youngsters have not had the opportunity to play much baseball before they make a bid for a starting position on the Dart nine.

When weather conditions permitted the Darts to go outside, they took every advantage possible to get ready for the games that they had on their schedule. Early practices were held in the gym to get the boys' throwing arms in shape before they moved their talents to Myers Field. Getting a break in the weather, the Darts drilled hard to be ready for their first game with Savannah.

Since Wolfe knew very little about the material with which he had to work, much experimenting was done before a definite line-up was announced. Every position on the team had at least two fellows trying to gain the starting nod. By the time this material was written no starting nine had been designated by the Darts' new mentor.

Row 1—(left to right) R. McQuate, D. Cline, F. Hitchcock, B. Grindle, J. Hartney, J. Spreng, B. Springer, J. Sharr, G. Griner, L. Mowry, G. Thompson, L. Hamilton. Row 2—H. Roscoe, Manager; B. Murch, R. Wissler, J. Ebert, G. Sidle, G. Flora, L. Jones, D. Kreis, R. Stone, D. Emery, D. Howey, L. Conway. Row 3—G. Valentine, Coach; T. Fauber, J. Tilton, D. Sheller, L. Brockway, P. Morr, R. Bechtel, C. Deane, G. Koehl, F. Mailloux, H. Swaisgood, R. Carlson, T. Hitchcock, L. Gault, J. Sharrock, G. Goard, C. Highman, H. Miller, Coach.

Beginning the 1953 track season with just eight lettermen, much skepticism was shown about the chances of having another fine thinclad squad. However, many good prospects were uncovered to help give the Arrows a fine track team.

Captain Bill Springer, Gary Griner, Lee Mowry, Reed Stone, John Spreng, and Guy Flora were the returning monogram winners of last year.

Springer was the mainstay in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, broad jump, and pole vault. He was expected to come through with his share of points in all four events. In the first meet of the year he cracked the school pole vault record held by Dick Tarr. He cleared the bar at 11 feet 6 inches. Lee Mowry and Gary Griner gave Springer plenty of competition in this event.

Larry Hamilton and Don Howey gave the Arrows security in the mile and half mile runs, whereas Larry Jones, Guy Flora, and Reed Stone ranked among the best in the 440 run. Spreng, Stone, and Springer were tough to beat in the dashes.

Captain Bill Springer

Bob Murch, Roger Wissler, and Jack Ebert garnered many points in the shot-put. Wissler and Murch threw the discus along with the Sidle brothers. Springer, Jones, Grindle, Emery, and Conway divided the broad jump, and Grindle, Emery, and Conway the high jump.

Dave Emery, Harold Swaisgood, and promising Fred Hitchcock came through very well in the hurdles.

This squad was green at first, but after a couple of meets they rounded into a well-balanced track aggregation.

On February 23 the Navy All-Star Team took over the boys' gym to beat the Army 34 to 14.

Coached by students from the college, the two teams trained for three weeks for the game. The two girls doing the coaching for the Navy were Pat Gilliam and Doris Woodworth, while Jeanette Whitmore and Carol Hudnut did the same for the Army.

Anne Taylor, sophomore member of the Navy, outscored all of her teammates by tallying sixteen points to become high scorer. Jean Harpster was high point girl for her team by racking up six points.

Officials for the evening included Mrs. Harriet Geisinger, girls' physical education director of Ashland College, who was referee; Pat Wait, umpire; Mr. Thornhill, timekeeper; and Linda Horn and Janice Harpster, scorekeepers.

The Navy had two veterans of three years while the Army had one. For Army, Carolyn Cowan played as both a forward and a guard; and for Navy, Carol Hartman played in the guard position and Ann Fendrick was forward. All of these girls were captains of their respective teams along with Shirley Hess, who was co-captain for the Army.

The managers, Barbara Sherck, Navy, and Loretta Stutler, Army, did their part for the teams by getting their numbers ready and taking care of their other responsibilities.

All Stars

Each of the teams had its own cheerleaders. Barbara Cothren, Peggy Humrichouser, and Joyce Leaman did the cheering for Army, while Janice Fike, Margaret Kaser, and Nancy Kehl led cheers for Navy.

The Army chose dark brown and beige as their colors while the Navy was dressed in blue and white.

To conclude the year's activities, the two teams held a banquet at Smith's Supper Club. At this time, the girls were awarded their stars and basketballs.

Not to be forgotten are the Junior Army and Navy teams. The Junior Army showed up their senior big sisters by defeating the Junior Navy 20 to 19. These girls held a potluck supper to end the basketball season.

As Ashlanders boast about their second consecutive undefeated football season, they also can boast about their four senior varsity cheerleaders. These four junior girls could be seen at every one of Ashland's football games, at home or away, leading Ashland High School fans in cheers.

For this season the girls wore white turtle-necked sweaters with orange A's and black and orange pleated skirts.

As basketball season began the cheerleaders changed their uniforms to black weskits with the same black and orange skirts and white long sleeved blouses. They traveled with the team to most of the out-of-town games including the four tournament games, three being at Marion and one at Toledo.

This year the new name was given to the A. H. S. teams. This name, the "Arrows," brought about a need for some new and different cheers. To accomplish this Miss Kruse, the cheerleaders' adviser, held practices weekly. During these evenings the girls originated several new cheers using different motions and words.

To lead the cheers for the J. V. teams, four junior varsity cheerleaders were chosen. These girls did a very good job and were given plenty of experience so that they will be able to take their places in the varsity ranks.

VOLLEYBALL

Early in the fall many girls can be seen hurrying out to Brookside Park to play a very strenuous game of soccer. Although the girls wear shin guards, they still jokingly complain of bruised shins and ankles. Soccer was very ably managed by Olive Smith.

The second sport of the year is bowling. Although a large percentage of the balls rolled are gutter balls, the girls have a great deal of fun during the bowling season. This year Joyce Lutz, bowling manager, did a very capable job in averaging each girl's total number of points.

The volleyball season begins at approximately the same time as bowling. The Varsity team had a good record, for they won three games and lost only one to an out-of-town team. Marianne Green did a very good job as volleyball manager.

The most popular sport of the year is basketball. Carolyn Cowan, the basketball manager, very capably handled the scheduling of the many practices and games.

The games played in recreational sports are table tennis, badminton, deck tennis, and shuffleboard. Carol Hartman, this year's recreational sports manager, did her work with great competence.

The last sport of the year, softball, was managed by Jean Harpster.

STRANGE BOARDERS

Strange Boarders, a comedy-mystery by George Batson and Jack Kirkland, was presented on May 15 as the Thespian Play.

The plot of the play centered around a scatter-brained maiden lady who ran a boardinghouse. Cordelia adopted two girls, Candy and Gloria. Two eccentric old men also lived at the boardinghouse. Cordelia took in two crooks posing as schoolteachers, Misses Amity and Priscilla Haines, who brought with them ten thousand dollars in stolen money and tried to hide it in the boarding house.

Three gangsters who had stolen the money then appeared on the scene. They had taken the money from the leader of the gang and were trying to keep it from him.

The leader then came to the boardinghouse to get even with the double-crossers.

With the help of a dummy and her other tenants, Cordelia exposed the crooks and got the reward money.

that you all work in your summer
I will remember you made. Ann

Crede
 To the little artist who turned entertainer
 Best of luck in the future
 Best wishes,
 Chuck Spore, Esq.

Crede:
 Best of luck
 in all you do.
 Never forget Art class.
 Nancy Griffith

Crede,
 To a real good Art student.
 Good luck.
 Joyce Simanton

Crede:
 The best of everything to you and Carol.
 Carol Roby

Crede,
 When green paddles pass me by
 I'll think of you --- I wonder why?
 Always remember your walking chum and the fun we had. I hope we meet again, someday.
